Lott directs reversal

Congressman Trent Lott Thursday directed a reversal of an earlier House of Representatives vote which would have derailed the Navy's plans to move their Oceanographic Office headquarters from Suitland, Maryland to the NSTL facilities in Hancock County.

The 220 to 190 vote nullified Wednesday's night 219 to 193 approval of a defense appropriations amendment offered by Congresswoman Gladys Noon Spellman of Maryland. Thursday's decision was quickly followed by a 353 to 61 vote approving final passage of the bill which now goes to the Senate.

The Spellman amendment demanded that "None of the funds appropriated in this act may be expended for any expenses of a relocation of the National Oceanographic Office Headquarters of the Navy." If approved, it would have barred all federal funds for the move.

I've got to say that the entire Mississippi delegation refused to throw in the towel," Lott said. "We worked late into the night Wednesday trying to develop a strategy to reverse the action on the amendment. Thursday morning we went to work on a number of members who we thought we could persuade to change their vote based on the facts."

Lott said the reversal was "the greatest legislative victory I've had since I've been in Congress. It was a fantastic effort on the part of the Mississippi delegation as well as the delegation from Louisiana."

Mrs. Spellman's sudden announcement of the amendment at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday stunned the Mississippi delegation. A few minutes later, the amendment had been approved.

"All I'm asking is equal treatment for the employees of Oceanographic," Mrs. Spellman said. "Do not take their jobs from them. Do not disrupt their lives. Do not force their families to be uprooted. Do not take their children out of our schools and send them off to other school systems that are not ready to take care of them. Do not force women to have to give up their jobs to go with their husbands to Mississippi. Do not turn our backs on the black employees who have nothing waiting for them in Mississippi."

Lott was quickly on his feet, insisting that "This is not an issue of whether this facility is going to be located in Mississippi or Maryland; it is a question of what is best for the Navy and the country. And quite frankly, it is not a move that Mississippi sought."

"This was a move that was decided upon after careful examination not only of sites in the South but sites in other parts of the country as well," he continued.

"The main thing that I want to point out here is that there is a $2.8 million savings a year involved. After the centralization costs are amortized over 7.1 years, a substantial savings will occur. There is a need for it, just on the basis of saving $2.8 million a year if nothing else."

Hearing scheduled for Care Center

The Division of Comprehensive Health Planning, Office of the Governor, in Jackson, has received an application submitted on behalf of the proposed Bayshore Extended Care Center of Bay St. Louis for a federal certificate of need for a capital expenditure of $1,500,000 to provide a 120-bed skilled nursing facility in Bay St. Louis.

The Division of Comprehensive Health Planning has been designated as the state planning agency responsible for the review of capital expenditures made by those health facilities which receive federal money under the Medicare, Medicaid, or Child and Maternal Health sections of the Social Security Act.

Capital expenditures which come under review are those which exceed $100,000, change the bed capacity, or substantially alter the scope of services offered.

The process for approval begins with filing an application with the Division of Comprehensive Health Planning which performs preliminary screening of the application and referral to the State Health Planning Advisory Council.

The Facilities Committee of the Council will review the application on Wednesday, October 8, at 10:30 a.m. in the third floor conference room of the Watkins Building, Jackson, and will make a recommendation to the Council which makes the final decision on each request.

The Division is conducting a public hearing on the application for the Bayshore Extended Care Center at 7:30 p.m., Monday, October 6, at the Bay St. Louis City Hall.

The purpose of the hearing is to determine community opinion of the project. Anyone wishing to offer support or opposition to the project is urged to attend.

WPUP announces change

WPUP radio station in Bay St. Louis, Miss., will begin operations immediately under new management according to a communique from the station's principle stockholder - Bill Garrett, Slidell, La.

The station which has been under the management of Don Moore since its first broadcast nearly two years ago, will be under the new management of Tony Hoda, according to Garrett. The change of command will be effective immediately, according to the release.

Hoda, formerly of Hancock County, was born in Rocky Hill and raised in Gulfport, Miss. He has been involved in radio and radio sales the past 16 years. "Mr. Hoda is well aware of the needs of the listening area of WPUP," the statement reads, "and will with his staff strive to serve and give the people the best possible at WPUP."

Hoda said the station was instituting program changes at the listening level which would be immediately apparent.

"We are moving into block formatting," Hoda explained, "and will feature three distinctive types of music throughout our listening day."

From sign on every morning until 9 a.m. the station will play country music, Hoda said, followed by what is known in the trade as "middle of the road" from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. and conclude the day's programming in the afternoons with light rock from 3 p.m. until signoff.

The station will also expand its news programming to place more emphasis on local news, Hoda said.

"We will feature a 6 p.m. news wrapup every day," Hoda explained, "that will be the most complete local coverage of the news we can give."

Autograph parties hail pictorial history publication

Two autograph parties hosted by first lady Carroll Waller will be held Wednesday, Oct. 8 in Biloxi and Pascagoula in conjunction with the publication of THE GOVERNOR'S MANSION: A PICTORIAL HISTORY, the first pictorial history of the Mississippi Governor's Mansion.

Both showings will be held at branches of Bankers Trust Savings & Loan which is making the books available to the public through the 53 statewide offices of BTS&L.

Bankers Trust has underwritten publication of the book, as a public service in cooperation with the Executive Mansion Commission, a non-profit group formed earlier this year to raise funds for the perpetual preservation of the Governor's Mansion as a National Historic Landmark.

The 64-page history was prepared by Dr. David Sansing of the University of Mississippi with the cooperation of the Mississippi Department of Archives and History.

The purchase price of the book will be $3 with all net proceeds going to the Mansion Commission for the preservation fund.

Mrs. Waller will be at the Bankers Trust Savings & Loan building on Lameuse Street, Biloxi, at 2 p.m. and at Bankers Trust, Old Mobile Highway, Pascagoula for a 4 p.m. signing.

Physician locates in Bay clinic

A graduate of "Ole Miss" medical school and a 12 year service veteran, Dr. William E. Calvert of McComb, Mississippi, has opened practice in Bay St. Louis.

Professionally recognized for both his innovative approach to medicine and almost regular contributions to several leading medical journals, the new community doctor has associated with Hancock General Hospital.

Dr. Calvert said Friday that he is in Bay St. Louis through choice and that he and wife, the former Deborah Jane Wacker of Jackson, really like the area.

"Coming here is like coming home to us," the doctor said, adding, "as a child I came to the coast each year with my parents for our summer vacation and I always wanted to live down here."

An ardent fisherman and hunter, Dr. Calvert said he read of the need for additional doctors in Hancock County in his Alumni Newsletter.

"After leaving the service, we looked into opening practice in Bay St. Louis, but gained the impression that, at least at that time, no great need existed. After further investigation we established in Florida," he said. The doctor added, "Fortunately we still remained unchanged in our attitude and inconsequence moved right along after reading of the vacancy."

"The advertisement appeared in April and we opened doors here, in Dr. McFarland's old clinic, on August 1, after disposing of my Florida practice," he concluded.

Dr. Calvert earned a chemistry major from Millsaps College following his graduation from McComb High School. Born in 1942, he was completing his internship at Mobile General Hospital in 1968 when called into the service.

Now a lieutenant colonel in the U. S. Army Reserve, his service awards include three Bronze Stars and two U. S. Army Commendation Medals. The doctor served as battalion surgeon, with the artillery in Vietnam and later, upon his promotion to major, was flight surgeon at Fort Rucker, Alabama, engaged in helicopter medic missions.

He and his wife, who holds the distinctive honor of being selected as First Alternate, Miss Mississippi, 1966, live at 630 Central Ave., Waveland. The couple have one son, William E. Calvert, II, aged 4.

Board warns of eardrops

The Mississippi State Board of Health and the Food and Drug Administration have announced that Whitworth, Inc., Gardena, California, is recalling almost 7,500 bottles of ear drops which may cause injury to the user, according to Joe Brown, chief of the Bureau of Environmental Health.

According to Brown, the product is contained in a small, half-ounce bottle, with a dropper-type cap. The white and blue label on the bottle has black and blue lettering saying "Ear Drops" in large letters and "For the Softening of Ear Wax" in smaller letters. The product is sold without a prescription. "Anyone who has the drug at home should return it to the store where it was purchased," Brown said. "Seven injuries involving a burning irritation to the ear have been reported to the FDA."

Samples of the ear drops tested by the FDA contain about 5,000 times the amount of one ingredient, Benzalkonium Chloride, that is declared on the label," Brown said. "The recall involves Whitworth's total production of ear drops. Distribution of the product began late last year."

Why don't you...?

From time to time we and other editors are asked various things and we decided to answer some of those questions.

Question: Why don't you write an editorial and tell those guys on the city commission what they can do to improve the town?

Answer: Why don't you go down to the next commission meeting and tell them yourself?

Q. WHY don't you print more letters to the editor?

A. Why don't you write me one? And sign it with your name, please—don't be chicken.

Q. Why don't you run more pages in the paper?

A. Because the outgo would exceed the income and then out I'd go.

Q. Why don't you print in color, say red, more often?

A. OUR entire supply of red ink is used in the bookkeeping department.

Q. Why don't you have funny papers?

A. We think we have the funniest paper in Kansas already.

Q. Why don't you have an "Advice to the Lovelorn" column, like Dear Abby?

A. None of our readers has any such problems.

Q. Why don't you carry TV reviews?

A. They can pay for their advertising.

Q. WHY don't you run a pin-up picture once in a while?

A. Why not?

Q. Why do you make so many grammatical mistakes?

A. Cause we ain't never learned no better.

Q. Why don't you run recipes?

A. We did and left a line out. Twenty people got sick and cancelled their subscriptions.

Q. Why do you devote space to such trivialities as "Joe Smith entered the hospital this week?"

A. Because good old Joe has many friends who are concerned about his health, even if you're not. And some of them might send him cards which he would appreciate.

Q. Who cares about questions like this anyway?

A. We do.

These questions and answers have not solved a lot of problems, but at least they should not have created any which is quite an accomplishment in these times.

United Way in Hancock County

Local senior citizens given renewed purpose

By MAE H. BEYER
Executive secretary
United Way
Hancock County

At this time when the attention of the nation is centered upon the Older American, the people of Hancock County are proud of the excellent services and assistance being given our senior citizens. Although the program is federally funded, matching funds are provided by the local government and the United Way. The program is of interest and concern to all of us, for who does not have an elderly parent, relative or friend who needs a helping hand to make it possible for him to remain in his own home, living with dignity, independence and contentment.

The Hancock County Senior Citizens Program, with its variety of human services, is housed in the Valena C. Jones Center. It began on March 3, 1972, and to date 1802 persons have registered to help and be helped. The services are administered by a small staff and an army of volunteers consisting of persons of all ages. These volunteers fill many needs without them the program would not be possible.

The latest component of the program is Senior Day Care, the first in the state of Mississippi. Forty-five low-income people, who need special care due to physical and social handicaps, gather together daily in a protected environment to enjoy proper nutrition, companionship, recreation, fun, health care and personal care, and just good solid everyday living. Many for whom trips to the doctor's office was their only outing now are part of a lovely singing group which entertains at the area nursing home and in churches in the local and surrounding areas. These beautiful people are learning to live again, and they are loving it.

Realizing the importance of dependable transportation, the program has its own buses to supplement help the volunteers give with their own cars. The clients are taken to the grocery store, doctor's office, bank, drug store, health and welfare departments and other necessary errands. This service is necessary because so many elderly persons do not drive or cannot afford to own a car. Mobility creates independence, and a person takes on a new perspective when he can take care of his own affairs.

Fifty persons 65 years of age and older enjoy a hot well balanced meal each day which is delivered to the center. It is often followed by an enjoyable program or a movie. Meeting together, these people enjoy companionship and fellowship and are assured of better health because it is often difficult for the elderly to prepare a solitary meal in their own kitchens.

The Information and Referral component reaches the largest number of people for it is as near as your telephone. By calling 467-0291 one can be assured he will receive assistance. The confusion of so many agencies and phone numbers is difficult for most young people but almost impossible for some seniors. Through the use of one telephone number, the personnel sees to it that those in need of help are directed to the proper agency and assistance is given. This is a vital link for the isolated and handicapped person.

Recreation is one of the most popular and enjoyable areas of the program. There is a succession of picnics, outings, all day trips, singing groups, and the ever popular bingo. Added to these are classes in arts and crafts, sewing, quilting, ceramics, flower growing, and foreign languages. Much talent has been discovered in fine art, and the work of several local senior artists is displayed in the local library and banks. This covers only a part of the important human services which our senior citizens enjoy. The program is being improved and expanded continually as more knowledge is gained in regard to the needs of our older Americans.

Those of us in the United Way want to express our sincere thanks to our contributors who make it possible for us to support this worthy program. It is gratifying to know that we are helping our senior citizens to live a full, healthy, happy and independent way of life.

There are almost two million newspapers published in America. To bring the latest news to you, editors work long hours selecting items that will both inform and interest their readers. A newspaper is more than an announcement of current events. It is a forum for opinion, for stories of human interest, for advertising—that core of American free enterprise.

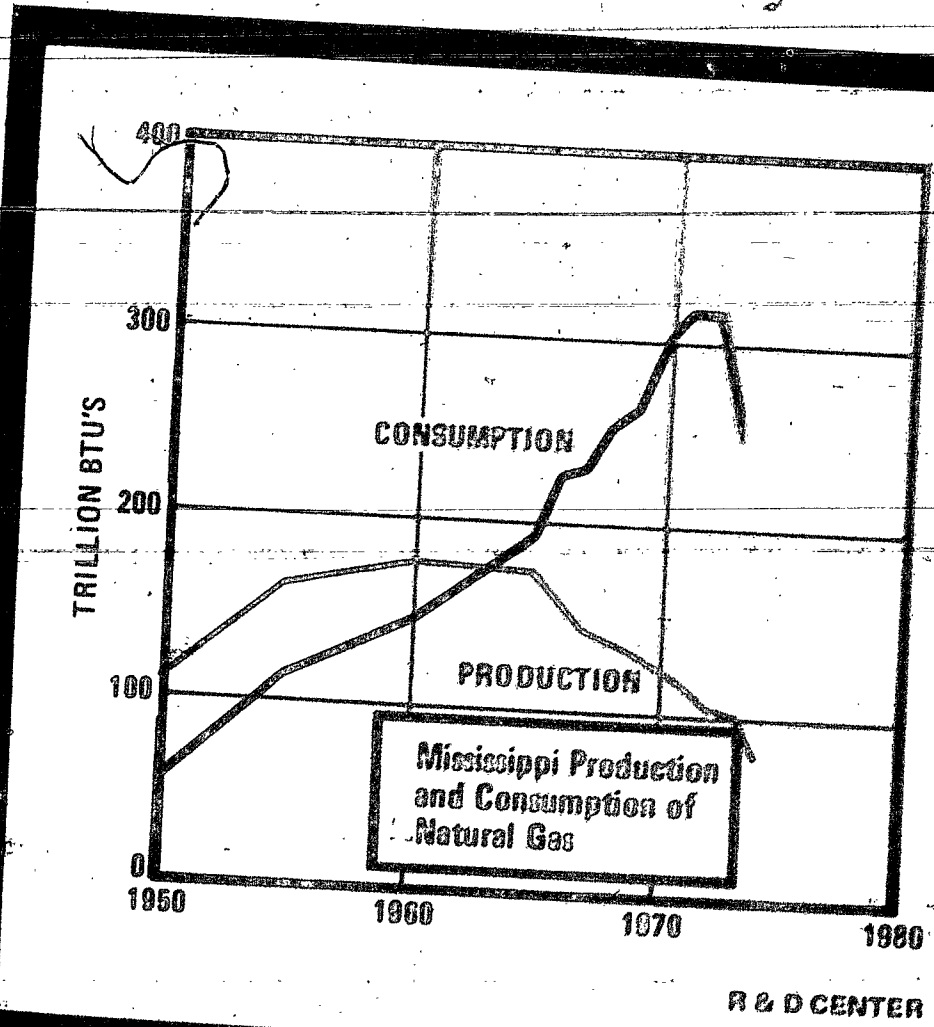

Energy crisis affecting state industry

JACKSON—Is the energy crisis still with us? According to information in "R&D Economic Comment," a publication of the Mississippi Research and Development Center, the energy crisis is affecting Mississippi industry and holds the potential for economic upheaval in the state.

Bette Poole and Milt Williams, management analysts in the Center's Business and Industry Development Division, and authors of the publication, said the data presented reveal that contrary to widespread belief, Mississippi is not self-sufficient in energy supplies.

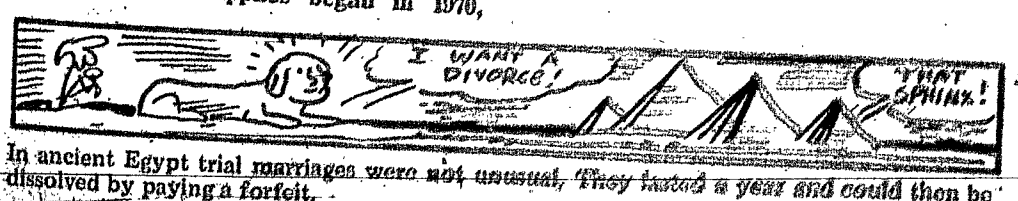

"R&D Economic Comment" presents a graphic analysis of the past and presently evolving energy situation in Mississippi. Production and consumption statistics concerning fuel and energy are provided, apparent trends are noted, and reasons for these trends are discussed.

Major sections in the publication include Mississippi production and consumption of fuel products, Mississippi consumption of fuel products by end use, and energy in Mississippi's future. Williams said the statistics presented are for Mississippi only; however, he pointed out that Mississippi's energy supply systems are interrelated with the nation's systems.

Mississippi production of natural gas has not shown a growth pattern since 1960, while consumption continued to increase until curtailments of supplies began in 1970, according to this chart taken from "R & D Economic Comment," an R & D Center publication.

Audience appreciates Little Indians cast

By LARRY McDONALD

Bay St. Louis has long been a city that appreciates good theatre. Last week's presentation of Agatha Christie's "The Little Indians" at the Boardman Theatre Playhouse did not disappoint them.

Playing to near capacity houses on Thursday and Friday nights and to a packed house Saturday night, the cast's performance kept the audience mystified and guessing until seconds before the final curtain.

Along with seasoned veterans were six new faces in the cast of eleven. Four of the performers were teachers which may account for the many students attending "Student Night" Wednesday at a reduced rate.

Whatever the reason, The Little Theatre welcomes the interest and enthusiasm of the young people both in the audiences and, hopefully later as part of future casts.

"Ten Little Indians" stage set portrayed a strikingly modern interior of an island resort home, the perfect background for a murder mystery.

Veteran actor Ted Stechmann was excellent as the wily villain foiled by the perception and logic of Skip Wassnack, a smooth adventurer and Mary Fayeth Rossiter, the attractive secretary.

Lamar Hill's introduction to the boards was short but effective as he became the first victim of Stechmann's plot; Don Baker, David Pierson and Catherine Cason handled their initial appearances with aplomb.

Musical comedy veteran Robert Taylor played a nervous doctor and Gertrude Stanton's performance was excellent. Charles Lyle was a believable ex-cop and Vic Frankiewicz, the boatman who didn't arrive soon enough to save the day.

The lobby display, feature of Little Theatre productions, was by Nadic Arts, the local art studio belonging to Dick and Nadine Stamm.

This play was directed by Ed Craig, a skilled craftsman on both sides of the footlights, and ably produced by Mike Cuevas, one of our most valued Little Theatre buffs.

The next play will be "The Curious Savage" directed by Mary Carter to be presented in early November. The public is invited to attend and enjoy the Little Theatre's outstanding plays.

Millsaps homecoming program announced

JACKSON—Millsaps College has set Nov. 7-8 for Homecoming Weekend this year when hundreds of alumni are expected to return to the campus.

Highlights of the weekend will include a Friday night dinner for the Early Days Club, the homecoming dance, an all campus picnic and Saturday's game against Austin College of Sherman, Tex.

The homecoming banquet Saturday night will feature presentation of the Alumni-of-the-Year Award and a State of the College address by Dr. Edward M. Collins Jr., Millsaps president.

Class reunions to be held this year include the Golden and Silver Anniversary Classes, 1926 and 1941, along with 12 other classes.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Sagers of 509 Spanish Acres Drive, Bay St. Louis, announce the birth of a daughter, Dawn Marie, Sept. 21st, Keesler Air Force Base Hospital.

The girl weighed six pounds, 12 ounces.

Maternal grandmother is Mrs. Myrtle Warner of Shoreline Park. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sagers of New Orleans.

Jaycees erect sign holders

The Pass Christian Jaycees have erected wire mesh sign holders at the east and west end of Pass Christian so that local clubs may attach their chapter signs to depict the time and location for regularly scheduled meetings.

Publicly chairman Wayne Pearson said the signs will be excellent advertisement for Pass Christian attracting attention to the activities available as well as concentrating the announcements in an attractive display.

All civic groups are encouraged to hang signs free of charge or contact the Jaycees who will hang the signs for a small fee.

VFW conducts membership drive

Star theatre to screen new run movies

Barry King, new owner of the Star Theatre on Washington and Beach Blvd., disclosed today that he intends to screen new run movies either simultaneously or within two to three weeks of New Orleans.

Scheduled to open Saturday, Oct. 4, King outlined his program intentions. "When a local audience sees a film advertised on their television sets, it is my hope to show them that movie almost back to back with the city release," King said.

The new theatre owner is well versed in his trade having been with General Cinema Corporation in New Orleans for the past 15 years.

A graduate of Nichols State University in Thibodaux and Vanderbilt Catholic High School, Houma, La., King is a sergeant in the National Guard Reserves, having served four years on active duty with Company C, 199 Support Battalion, Houma.

To support his new release program, King said, prices would have to be increased slightly. The new rate will be $2 for adults, $1.50 for students with identification card, and $1 for children.

Fourth annual horse show finals begin Oct. 24 at Fairgrounds

The Hancock County Fairgrounds will be the scene of the fourth annual state championship horse show finals Oct. 24-25.

The championship finals will feature 36 different events with over 1,260 entries. All the horse through an intricate pattern of riding will complete the Western Judge events.

A special Tiny Tots class will feature parent and very young rider in colorful matching costumes. A Buckaroo class will give the rider 9-years-old and under a chance to show his skill.

Gaited pleasure classes may be shown in English or Western tack. Four gaited classes will feature some of the finest horses in Mississippi. An Open English Pleasure Club completes the judged events.

Following the judged events, the really fast competition begins. Riders will race the clock in Pole Bending, Arena races, 50-yard dash, Barrel Races and the Quadrangle Race.

A full program will also be offered for the pony riders. Halter events will be held on Friday, Oct. 24, beginning at 8 p.m.

In halter classes for stallions, geldings and mares, judges will look for the best conformations and movement, and for the most pleasing presentation of the horse by the rider.

Pearl River put their offense into full gear here Saturday night, beating Jones 28-6 and in doing so, racked up 491 total yards, for their second win of the season. Colton beat Northeast 33-13 Thursday night of last week, giving them two wins for the year as well.

"Co-Lan is the typical Wolves team - quick, aggressive and hard tackling," Arban said. "If we win we must be ready to play."

Co-Lin's running back, Jerry Montgomery and big defensive tackle Tommy Trichell were tapped as the Wolves top players by the PRC's scouting reports.

On defense the two teams will once again mirror each other as both use the Oklahoma defense sets.

Captains for this week's game will be Hal Applewhite of Prentiss, Gary Miller of Pearl River Central and Larry Harnett of Columbia.

UNIVERSITY. Miss. — Ole Miss' middle guard Ben Williams has added yet another feather to his cap.

In being tapped Wednesday by United Press International as Southeastern Conference Lineman of the Week, it marked the third time for the 6-3, 255-pound senior to receive the regional honor.

He was honored last year for his play against Missouri and in 1977 against Villanova, earning National Lineman of the Week recognition for the Villanova game.

The Rebels' leading tackler on the season, Williams is a two-time All-Conference selection and has twice been selected Defensive Player of the Game on ABC televised contests.
